Topical Notes

From the editors Desk

Wasnt it great to see the huge turnout of members at last weeks meeting. It certainly reinforces the notion that the more members we have in attendance the better the fellowship becomes. It helps too that wives/partners and guests come along to share in the conviviality. Now our booksale is in full swing and it seems we will have at least as good a result as we did last year. Many thanks to those dedicated and tireless workers who organised the event and helped out with the manual labour. The trailer raffle too is in its last days and looks like bringing in plenty of much needed lucre to help us support those charities, services and events we dedicate ourselves to.

Please come along to this weeks meeting which will be a cleanup night at the booksale with Pizza and goodies for all. Its at the Scout Hall.

Should we accept unquestioningly what we are told?

"Right now, much of the Northern Hemisphere is facing the coldest winter in decades and yet the media parades around the Australian Bureau of Meteorology's latest report that our nation has supposedly been warming for every decade since the 1940s."The actual fact is that satellite temperature data shows average global temperature is now on the decline—the warmest year was back in 1998."The U.K. faces its coldest winter in 30 years as reported in the Guardian yesterday. The U.S. will be experiencing the coldest weather it has faced in 25 years, according to the head meteorologist at AccuWeather.com and the Chinese capital Beijing is currently in the grip of the coldest weather in 20 years. Schools in Beijing were shut after it was hit by the heaviest daily snowfall since 1951 on 3rd January, the official Xinhua News Agency reported. North China braces for the coldest weather since the 1950s.

Is it the Truth? Will it be beneficial to all concerned?
